Dear Toney:

In 1988, we purchased VanS because it was tailored to our industry and for its ability to perform statement reconciliation with our van line. As we have evolved from a mover to a delivery company, handling 35,000 shipments per year, the software has performed with distinction.

Support can make or break a software product and your support people are always ready and willing to assist. The fact that many of the support people have been with you for years speaks well of their belief in the product.

Two years ago we added DMS and VanS Laser Forms. DMS allows us to scan and then recall all of our documents. This has saved many hours of looking through files for support for services, claims or proof of deliveries. Now we can sit at our desktop, pull up the paperwork and email in seconds. We can also annotate the scanned documents at a later time so we can track returns or record updated information. Laser Forms allows us to print local delivery and moving waybills as needed, print invoices on plain paper and invoice by Email.

I'm sure that the Compusource products and team have helped us to function with fewer staff then many of our fellow agents.

Sincerely,

Mark Maltbie
